

TechGirls

What is TechGirls?

TechGirls is a complement to the TechWomen program and works to echo its goals: supporting development in the technology field and enabling young women to reach their full potential in the technology industry. The program emphasizes hands-on skills development in fields such as programming, robotics, mobile application building, web design, video graphics, and 3D game design. The program lasts 3 weeks, and is for young women aged 15 to 17. The goals of the TechGirls program are:

- 1) To provide a program of academic study of applied technology for girls who already have a demonstrated aptitude and strong interest in the subject;
- 2) To empower girls to pursue higher education and careers in technology;
- 3) To link peers who share interests and abilities;
- 4) To develop the leadership skills of the participants;
- 5) To promote mutual understanding among the peoples of the United States and the countries and territories of the Middle East and North Africa.
